Welcome to a fresh format

About the Forum producer

The Consilient Consultancy is not a media company nor an event management company. It is a niche management consultancy firm specialising in supply and demand sides of healthcare system financing. With 31 years' experience of working in and consulting to the insurance sector and to governments, the last 12 years focusing on health insurance, I believe Consilient is well qualified to produce such an event.

The art of good conference production

Over the last decade I have attended and spoken at health insurance conferences around the globe. Some were good but many were not so good.

The art of good conference production relies upon relevant content, engaging speakers, first class facilities and ensuring the event not only educates and informs the audience but provides value for money.

Beyond that, it should offer great networking and be an enjoyable experience for all involved.

Previous event formats

Over the last 12 years I have seen at least 8 organisations producing insurance conferences in the Arabian Gulf. Most of these were held in Dubai. Indeed during one year, there were no fewer than 6 such conferences. Several event organisers have since left this crowded market.

We now have fewer conferences on health insurance in the region: notably 3 in Dubai (including this one) and one in Muscat.

However, the format remains largely unchanged...typically 2 day events, relatively well attended on the first day with few delegates turning up for the second day. The speakers are usually the same group of people, mainly from within the region and covering the same, recurring topics.

Our format

We believe that a new format is required to breathe life into health insurance conferences in the region. We believe that smaller, more intimate events offer greater, more valuable networking and knowledge transfer opportunities. We have seen this format succeed at a number of events in Europe over the last two years.

Whilst the themes should be relevant to the region, speakers should have global experience to bring insights from other parts of the world.

We have retained the 2-day format on the basis that many of our audience and speakers will be travelling to the forum from overseas. The event needs to offer a breadth of content that would justify the travelling time.

Importantly, this is a "how to do" not "what to do" event.

Knowledge transfer

Many of our speakers will have experience of speaking at conferences around the globe and will generally be high level executives who can bring their globally acquired experience to our audience.

We can learn from speakers who not only have international experience but who have experience of markets with different challenges. For example, the opportunity for knowledge transfer between Middle Eastern and African countries is enormous yet previous "Middle East and Africa" or "MENA" events have failed to attract more than 15-20% of speakers and delegates from Africa.

The audience

We have also aimed to attract a far more international and senior audience that will provide more valuable networking opportunities rather than those provided by the traditional delegate profile.

I hope our approach will inspire you!

Robin Ali
Head of Practice
The Consilient
Consultancy
United Arab Emirates

Robin Ali is a highly qualified and experienced insurance professional having served the industry in diverse roles for 30 years, the last 12 being in the Middle East. He began his career in the UK where he worked with Standard Life, Eagle Star and Zurich Insurance companies.

In mid-2016 he stood down from a full-time role with Dubai Health Authority where over a period of 3 years he developed and implemented on behalf of Dubai Government an insurance regulatory framework in support of the 2013 Health Insurance Law of the Government of Dubai.

Robin founded The Consilient Consultancy, an independent advisory services practice based in Dubai, at the end of 2015. Consilient provides advisory services on both the supply side and the demand side of healthcare system financing. The supply side work involves helping governments to develop or revise their healthcare funding models while the demand side focuses on ensuring that models are sustainable, focusing on utilization, efficiency, combatting fraud and abuse and enabling health improvement, particularly through workplace wellness schemes.

Prior to establishing Consilient and his work with DHA, Robin worked for Ernst & Young's Middle East Insurance Advisory Services practice advising international and regional insurers, reinsurers and regional regulatory authorities.

Disenchanted with the quality of health insurance events in the region, Robin decided that The Consilient Consultancy could provide a fresh approach...so here we are!
